

Welcome to our new quality manager

In its effort to continuously improve its processes and quality, GLOBALSYS is strengthening its quality organization and has hired Borhen Mastouri as its new quality manager.

Borhen joins us from VALEO, a leading automotive systems player, where he was acting as lead test engineer.

Borhen states: "I'm excited to join GLOBALSYS, the key player in audio wireless communications for aeronautics and naval. I'm working hard on my first structuring project which consists in deploying lean manufacturing principles and 5S methodologies at GLOBALSYS. Our next step, will be to build a PART21 process capable of matching the stringent EASA flight safety requirements."

Through its investment in such projects, GLOBALSYS is enabling a more robust and flexible manufacturing process, leading to greater customer satisfaction and enhanced product safety.
